DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being fully met by Ikeya (USP 6492584).

Ikeya discloses an electronic musical instrument comprising a main body portion (Fig. 1) and a plurality of parts 20-n selected from among parts of a plurality of grades for each kind and placed in said main body portion, wherein said main body portion comprises: a memory 8 for storing control programs for controlling said parts of each selectable grade for said each kind of part; and a controller 16 for controlling said electronic musical instrument using the control program and recognizing grades of the parts placed in said main body portion for each kind (Col. 4 lines 24-55), and wherein said controller comprises a selector 2,10 for selecting a control program for use in control from among the control programs stored in said memory in accordance with the recognized grades for said each kind of part.

Claims 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being fully met by Hotta (USP 5420374).

Hotta discloses an electronic musical instrument comprising a main body portion (Fig. 1) and a plurality of parts (Fig. 4) selected from among parts of a plurality of grades for each kind and placed in said main body portion, wherein said main body portion comprises: a memory 2 for storing control programs for controlling said parts of each selectable grade for said each kind of part; and a controller 1 for controlling said electronic musical instrument using the control program and recognizing grades of the parts placed in said main body portion for each kind, and wherein said controller comprises a selector 5 for selecting a control program for use in control from among the control programs stored in said memory in accordance with the recognized grades for said each kind of part.
